Young researcher Jamie Pierce accidently makes a startling discovery: a connection between proteins in the blood and a person s longevity. Her work is stolen by a bio-med company, but a key formula is missing. Meanwhile, Declan Flynn is investigating why poor young women are being paid to turn their newborns over to an adoption agency. He finds the bio-med company intends to use the infants to offer wealthy people a way to extend their lives. Jamie is being pressured for the formula. Can Declan find a way to derail the corporate plans, protect Jamie and save the babies?
